

cal & the police may be there within a matter of hours of an incident. Trusts must centralise the process quickly by putting together a team of people right at the start to manage the organisation's

